

GAR WANG WONDER..."SUMMER CANNOT LAST FOREVER."

Inspired by E.B. White's Charlotte's Web.

In this whimsically profound children's classic, E.B. White weaves an enduring tale of innocence and friendship. We are reminded that the halcyon days of "summer cannot last forever". Wilbur's carefree world collapses when the little pig realizes what is in store for him. It is the ingenuity of his spider friend Charlotte, who saves him from the butcher's block. Summer may not last forever, but with hope and creativity, the future offers great possibilities.

Gar's art incorporates drawing, paint, wood, clay, fiber and found objects in response to nature. A passionate gardener, she has written and lectured on organic gardening and sustainable practices for several decades.

Having taught art at several colleges, Gar has exhibited throughout the metropolitan area and was granted the National Endowment for the Arts award in painting.
